

*Index to Clerical Biographies
in William Buell Sprague's
'Annals of the American Pulpit'*

MARIE E. LAMOUREUX

FOREWORD BY CAROLE S. KIMNACH

ANYONE who conducts research on the American Protestant ministry before 1850 should be aware of William Buell Sprague's Annals of the American Pulpit; or, Commemorative Notices of Distinguished American Clergymen of Various Denominations, from the Early Settlement of the Country to the Close of the Year Eighteen Hundred and Fifty-five, 9 vols. (New York: R. Carter and Brothers, 1859-69). In a recent nine-month National Endowment for the Humanities fellowship at the American Antiquarian Society, during which we studied the evolution of language in the eighteenth century as revealed in the published sermons of American preachers, my husband, Wilson Kimnach, and I frequently consulted these volumes. The typescript index available at AAS represented the single, most accurate form of access to this essential reference work.

Sprague (1795-1876), an active Congregational clergyman for fifty years, was a noted autograph collector and scholar with special interests in biography and history. When he undertook this project, Sprague intended to include in a single volume 'the most brilliant lights, without regard either to denomination or chronological order.' However, he soon realized that he had a wealth of material that could not be contained within a single volume. Between 1857 and 1869, while performing the duties of minister to a large church, he issued a nine-volume compendium which is an unrivalled source of interesting and useful information on the antebellum Protestant ministry. Each volume is labelled by denomination: Trinitarian Congregational (1 and 2), Presbyterian (3 and 4), Episcopalian (5), Baptist (6), Methodist (7), Unitarian Congregational (8), and Lutheran, Reformed Dutch, Associate, Associate Reformed, and Reformed Presbyterian (9). The entries are arranged chronologically according to the dates of the subjects' years of service. Each entry includes a biographical sketch, a list of published works, and, with few exceptions, original testimony by an acquaintance concerning the subject's personality. Using this format, Sprague has documented gradual changes in the ministry as well as the progress of each denomination through the activity of its preachers; furthermore, he claims exemption from denominational partiality and, regarding the order of the volumes, he wrote: 'They follow each other, according to the number of subjects which they have respectively furnished.'

Although each of the nine volumes contains a chronological table at its beginning, and there is an alphabetical index for each of the eleven denominations treated, there is no comprehensive index to the set. Now, many years after publication of the Annals, scholars and librarians are indeed fortunate to have such a reference available in the index prepared by Marie E. Lamoureux, assistant head of readers' services and genealogy specialist at the American Antiquarian Society. In addition to verifying each citation (minister, volume, page) in the original compilation, Ms. Lamoureux went one important step further in providing the denominational identification of each minister, enabling scholars to consult entries without prior knowledge of a minister's affiliation.¹

1. When Ms. Lamoureux proposed undertaking this work to Keith Arbour, then head of readers' services at AAS, he brought the plan to the attention of professional colleagues. It became apparent that preliminary work on this project had already been begun by Erick Kuchar, a student assistant in the reference department of the Trinity College Library, Hartford, Connecticut. Rather than begin again, Lamoureux painstakingly corrected many

Ms. Lamoureux's excellent work makes possible, for the first time, accurate and efficient access to this rich body of biographical and historical material. Any library holding a set of Sprague would be well advised to shelve this comprehensive index next to the set.

Ms. Lamoureux's 'completion' of the Annals brings it full circle since, in his acknowledgements, William Buell Sprague mentions his indebtedness to Samuel Foster Haven, AAS librarian from 1838 until 1881.
