PART XV: RHODE ISLAND

COMPILED BY CLARENCE S. BRIGHAM

The following bibliography attempts, first, to present a historical sketch of every newspaper printed in the United States from 1690 to 1820; secondly, to locate all files found in the various libraries of the country; and thirdly, to give a complete check list of the issues in the library of the American Antiquarian Society.

The historical sketch of each paper gives the title, the date of establishment, the name of the editor or publisher, the frequency of issue and the date of discontinuance. It also attempts to give the exact date of issue when a change in title or name of publisher or frequency of publication occurs.

In locating files to be found in various libraries, no attempt is made to list every issue. In the case of common papers which are to be found in many libraries, only the longer files are noted, with a description of their completeness. Rare newspapers, which are known by only a few scattered issues, are minutely listed.

The check list of the issues in the library of the American Antiquarian Society follows the style of the Library of Congress "Check List of Eighteenth Century Newspapers," and records all supplements, missing issues and mutilations.

The arrangement is alphabetical by States and towns. Towns are placed according to their present State location. For convenience of alphabetization, the initial "The" in the titles of papers is disregarded. Papers are considered to be of except in the names of the libraries where files are located, and these should be easily understood. A superior italic "m" is used in the listing of the Society's files to signify mutilated copy. The bibliography includes only newspapers, and does not list magazines; the distinction has sometimes been difficult to draw, but the test has generally been the inclusion of current news. Neither in the historical sketches nor in the listing of files is any account taken of the existence of the paper after 1820.

All files, except in a few instances, have been personally examined by the compiler of this list, and the facts stated have been drawn from an inspection of the papers themselves and not based on secondary authorities.

The bibliography will be published in the Proceedings in about seventeen installments, after which the material will be gathered into a volume, with an historical introduction, acknowledgment of assistance rendered, and a comprehensive index of titles and names of printers. Reprints of each installment will not be made, nor will the names of papers or printers be indexed in the Proceedings. The compiler will welcome additions and corrections.

[Chepachet] Scourge, 1811.

The issue of Dec. 4, 1811, vol. 1, no. 3, was published by "Frank Flog'em" under the title of "The Scourge."

Apparently this was the first issue since the publication of vol. 1, no. 2 at Providence on Aug. 25, 1810, and the preface of the Chepatchet issue explains why it was published and accounts for its "long silence." It was an anonymous, virulent anti-Republican sheet, of quarto size, aimed especially against Jeremiah B. Howell, Senator in Congress. Although it bore the name of Chepatchet in the imprint the paper was probably printed in Providence.

N. Y. Hist. Soc. has Dec. 4, 1811.

Newport Mercury, 1758-1820+.

Weekly. Established June 19, 1758, by James Franklin, with the title of "The Newport Mercury, or, the Weekly Advertiser." At some time between Jan. 23 and Mar. 20, 1759, the title was shortened to "The Newport Mercury." James Franklin died Apr. 21, 1762, after which the paper was published by his mother, Ann Franklin. With the issue of Aug. 17, 1762, Mrs. Franklin took Samuel Hall into partnership under the firm name of A. Franklin and S. Hall. Ann Franklin died Apr. 19, 1763, and with the issue of Apr. 25, 1763, the paper was printed by Samuel Hall. On Mar. 28, 1768, Hall retired and was succeeded by Solomon Southwick. In November 1775 Southwick, on account of the threatened British attack upon Newport, removed part of his materials from his office, and brought out his paper in reduced size. The issue of Nov. 6, 1775, was entitled "An Occasional Paper," and those of Nov. 13, 20 and 27, 1775 "Freshest Advices." With the issue of Dec. 4, 1775, the title of "The Newport Mercury" was resumed. The paper was suspended with the issue of Dec. 2, 1776 (no. 954 so numbered instead of 955), and six days later the British occupied Newport.

Southwick buried his press and types (see Mercury, June 12, 1858) and fled to Rehoboth, Mass., where he obtained John Waterman's press and soon began printing some of the Rhode Island Laws. In the spring of 1777, he removed to Attleborough, where he continued printing until November 1778, when he removed to Providence and formed a partnership with Bennett Wheeler. Here he remained until the British evacuated Newport, Oct. 25, 1779, when he returned to Newport to aid in the re-establishment of the Newport Mercury.

The first issue of "The Newport Mercury" after its suspension was that of Jan. 5, 1780, no. 955. Henry Barber became the publisher and editorially stated "The Newport Mercury having been discontinued ever since Monday the second of December, 1776, because it was determined, by its former publisher, it should die, or be free." All the issues from 1780 to 1785 have the imprint of Henry Barber. With the issue of May 7, 1785, Solomon Southwick became a partner, the firm name being Southwick & Barber. With the issue of Jan. 8, 1787, Solomon Southwick became sole publisher. Because of sickness and lack of paper, Southwick suspended publication from Nov. 8, 1787 to Dec. 22, 1787, and in the issue of Dec. 22, no. 1360, stated that he hoped the newspaper would be "revived again on a full sheet in January, and carried on with Spirit, by himself or some other Person." The next issue located, that of Jan. 28, 1788, no. 1364, was published by Henry Barber, who then continued as sole publisher. With the issue of Jan. 7, 1800, the title was changed from "The Newport Mercury" to "Newport Mercury." Henry Barber died Sept. 11, 1800, and with the issue of Sept. 16, 1800, the paper was published for Ann Barber, his widow. With the issue of Aug. 19, 1809, a "new arrangement" was made and the publishers became L[ewis] Rousmaniere & Wm. Barber. With the issue of Nov. 22, 1817, Rousmaniere withdrew and the publishers became Wm. & J[ohn] H. Barber, who continued the paper until after 1820.

[Newport] Rhode-Island Gazette, 1732-1733.

Weekly. Established Sept. 27, 1732, by James Franklin, with the title of "The Rhode-Island Gazette." The last issue on record is that of Mar. 1, 1733, no. 20 (so noted by Munsell in 1874 in his footnote in Thomas's "History of Printing," but given as no. 22 by Hammett, in his "Bibliography of Newport," 1887). Thomas in his "History of Printing" (1874 ed., vol. 2, p. 80) states that the paper was discontinued May 24, 1733.

Mass. Hist. Soc. has Oct. 4, 11, 18, 25, Nov. 1, 8, 16, 23, Dec. 7, 14, 21, 1732; these have been reproduced by photostat, which set is possessed by several libraries. R. I. Hist. Soc. has Oct. 4, 1732. Charles E. Hammett in his "Bibliography of Newport," p. 108, records the issues of Jan. 11, 25, Feb. 22, and Mar. 1, 1733, in his possession, and reproduces the issue of Jan. 25; but he told the writer twenty-five years ago that these issues had disappeared. [Newport] Rhode-Island Republican, 1801-1806, 1809-1820+.

Weekly. A continuation, so far as concerns volume numbering and advertisements, of "The Guardian of Liberty," the last issue of which was on Sept. 26, 1801. The first issue with the title of "Rhode-Island Republican" was that of Oct. 3, 1801, vol. 2, no. 1, published by Oliver Farnsworth. With the issue of Oct. 25, 1805, Farnsworth retired as editor, and the paper was published for Noah Bisbee, Jun. It was so continued until June 26, 1806, vol. 6, no. 298, when it was evidently suspended. On Mar. 22, 1809, it was revived by William Simons, with new volume numbering, with the title of "The Rhode-Island Republican," but with no allusion to its predecessor. With the issue of Mar. 21, 1810, the initial "The" in the title was omitted. It was so continued by Simons until after 1820.

Providence Gazette, 1762-1820+.

Weekly and semi-weekly. Established Oct. 20, 1762, by William Goddard, with the title of "The Providence Gazette; and Country Journal." Because of lack of support, the paper was suspended with the issue of May 11, 1765, no. 134. William Goddard removed from Providence, leaving the press in charge of his mother, Sarah Goddard. On Aug. 24, 1765, an unnumbered issue of the paper was brought out, with the title "Vox Populi, Vox Dei. A Providence Gazette Extraordinary," printed by S. and W. Goddard. The paper was resumed with the issue of Aug. 9, 1766, no. 135, with its early title, and printed by Sarah Goddard, and Company. According to a history of the paper in the issue of Mar. 6, 1779, Sarah Goddard's partner was Mr. Inslee, unquestionably Samuel Inslee of New York. With the issue of Sept. 19, 1767, Inslee retired in favor of John Carter, and the paper was published by Sarah Goddard and John Carter. With the issue of Nov. 12, 1768, Mrs. Goddard retired and John Carter became sole publisher. With the issue of Nov. 9, 1793, William Wilkinson was taken into partnership, under the firm name of Carter and Wilkinson. With the issue of May 11, 1799, Wilkinson retired and John Carter again became sole publisher. The title was shortened to "The Providence Gazette," Jan. 10, 1795, but resumed its earlier form of "Providence Gazette, and Country Journal," Jan. 12, 1811. With the issue of Feb. 19, 1814, Carter retired and the publishers became Brown & Wilson (Hugh H. Brown and William H. Wilson). With the issue of June 15, 1816, the firm dissolved, and the name of William H. Wilson appeared in the imprint as publisher, but with the issue of June 22, 1816, Hugh H. Brown bought out Wilson and thenceforth published the paper. With the issue of Mar. 1, 1817, the title was altered to "Providence Gazette, and Moral, Political & Commercial Register." With the issue of Jan. 3, 1820, Walter R. Danforth was admitted to partnership under the firm name of Brown & Danforth, and the paper became a semi-weekly. The title became "The Providence Gazette," Jan. 3, 1820, and "Providence Gazette" from Jan. 6 on. Published after 1820.

[Providence] Rhode Island Farmer, 1804-1805.

In an article on Providence newspapers in the Providence Bulletin, June 25, 1886, it is stated that "The Rhode Island Farmer" was established in July 1804, published by David Heaton and Benoni Williams, and reputedly edited by Amos Hopkins, and was issued weekly for about one year. There are references to its "Proposals" in the "Providence Phoenix" of July 7, 1804. In an article in the "Providence Gazette" of Aug. 4, 1804, a writer refers to the Gazette and the Phoenix, and says "There are but two papers printed in Providence." No copy of "The Rhode Island Farmer" has been located.

[Providence] Scourge, 1810.

The issue of Aug. 25, 1810, vol. 1, no. 2, was entitled "The Scourge," by "Frank Flog'em." It was a virulent anti-Republican sheet, of quarto size. The "Columbian Phenix" of Aug. 25, 1810, stated that the first issue appeared Aug. 18, and was printed from the types of "the Subscription-office." Apparently there were only two issues, and the paper did not appear again until Dec. 4, 1811, when vol. 1, no. 3, was published with the imprint of Chepatchet. See under Chepatchet.

R. I. Hist. Soc. and Lib. Congress have Aug. 25, 1810.
